Gifts for God

Romans 12:1-2, Micah 6:6-8

Traditionally this is the season to give. It is a time of generosity, when we often spend more than we can really afford. The wise men established the custom of giving gifts to Jesus, but now we don't bring gifts to Jesus as much as we do to one another.

What it would be like if we would make a covenant to spend just as much time and energy and thought in the perfect gift for Jesus? The prophet Micah gives us some suggestions.

1. Act Justly .

There is so little justice in our world. Almost everything seems to be unfair. The rich get richer and the poor get poorer. The bad seem to succeed, while the good seem to fail. Everything seems to be topsy-turvy. It is hard to determine what justice really is.

For years we have heard the old joke, "Steal $10, and go to jail. Steal a million dollars and get elected to congress."

I don't think I'll ever be able to understand the justice of what happened out in California a number of years ago. A man abducted a young girl, attacked her, then chopped off her arms and dumped her by the roadside to die. But she lived and identified him and he was sent to prison.

The only remorse that he has ever shown was remorse over the fact that she didn't die, and thus was able to identify him.

He spent only 8 years in prison in California before they released him. And the public wouldn't even have known that he was loose again if it hadn't been for some friends of the victim who protested the injustice of it all.

Juries deliberate for hours, even weeks, and sometimes we wonder how in the world they reached the verdict that they did.

Or how about the automobile accident in which a father and 3 children were killed? A woman was driving way over the speed limit. She ran a red light and crashed broadside into their car, killing the father and his 3 children instantly. But the woman driving above the speed limit, running the red light, wasn't even hurt. Somehow that doesn't seem fair, does it? There is so much in this world that doesn't seem fair.

What would it be like if we who are a part of the church would wrap up a little gift called "justice" and bring it to the manger of Christ? What if the church said, "Lord, we don't care what else the world may do, but we, as your people, will be fair with one another. We promise not to cheat. We promise to be fair in our business dealings. We promise that we will not lie to our customers. We'll always be honest in the things we say. We'll always be fair and just in the things we do. We promise to be fair with people who have a different color of skin. We'll never talk unjustly about them. We won't gossip, we won't complain, we'll not argue or fight with one another. We'll always be fair!" What would it be like if God's people would do that? What if we wrap up the gift of justice, and bring it to Jesus?

2. Love Mercy .

God told Micah "to love mercy, to love kindness." The Bible says, "Love is patient and it is kind" (1 Corinthians 13:). It is hard to find kindness today. So many people are unkind.

Perhaps you have heard about the woman who never swore, but caused everyone around her to swear. We have all known people like that.

Have you ever been treated unkindly? Have you ever had that sinking feeling inside, when you feel that people don't really care about you and that you are being rejected by them?

Think about the lepers in N.T. times. Wherever they went, they had to announce their coming by shouting "Unclean, unclean!" How they must have felt when people looked at them, turned and ran away from them, afraid to touch them, not wanting to be in their presence. They were not even welcome in their own homes, or among their family members.

Yet, when they came to Jesus, He didn't turn and run. He reached out and touched them and healed them! He treated them with kindness, and the result was healing.

What about the woman that Jesus met at Jacob's well? How many husbands had she had? Was it 5? And the man she was living with now was not her husband. She was viewed by the entire community as immoral. When she walked down the street they must have snickered and hurled insulting remarks. They must have been so unkind that she was even afraid to come to the well in the morning or in the evening when everyone else came. Instead, she came in the heat of noontime to draw her water. And it was then that she found Jesus. What if Jesus had been unkind? What if Jesus had said, "I want nothing to do with you, you immoral woman?"

But He didn't. Rather, He spoke to her in such a way that she ran back to Sychar and told the people to come and meet a man who had told her everything she had ever done, a man who had treated her with kindness.

Kindness is a good gift to bring at Christmas time. Would you make a covenant with me this Christmas and into the New Year to give the gift of kindness? Can we promise that we will try to be kinder to one another and that we will reflect the true spirit of Christ and show the world that He has made a difference and a change in our lives? The gift of kindness would be a wonderful gift to bring to Jesus at Christmas time.

3. Walk Humbly .

The Lord told Micah that He wanted one more gift - "walk humbly with our God." Jesus came into a world not greatly impressed with humility. He came into a world influenced by Greek culture and art. People were arrogant and proud. They thought that if you were important you would have a number of slaves and live among the aristocracy. You would wear lots of jewelry and flash that among the common people.

He came into a world greatly impressed with "Power." Roman officers rode on prancing stallions, with shining armor and plumes in their helmets swords and shields in place giving orders. And people quickly responding to their orders.

Into that kind of world Jesus came, riding not a prancing stallion but seated upon the foal of a donkey. He came with no great possessions, no fancy jewels, no material wealth, and the world was unimpressed! It rejected Him. It mocked Him, and it crucified Him!

Almost 2,000 years have passed since then. Are we any different than the Greeks and the Romans? Now we are impressed with brand names. We still want to wear just the right clothes – be in fashion drive the right automobile and live in the right neighborhood.

Yet, to Micah, the Lord said, "Walk humbly with thy God."

Conclusion

These are three amazing Christmas gifts. Yet, amazingly, we don't have to have money to give them. We don't have to have talent to give them. Everyone here can give them. We can bring them, neatly wrapped, and place them at the feet of Jesus.

May I suggest that when we do, it may very well be the best Christmas that we have ever had.

Give These to Jesus!

Overcoming Holiday Stress

The Christmas season should bring us joy and warm our souls, but more often than not, it brings heartburn and stress, headache and depression. Holiday stress will make this most wonderful time of year a miserable mess if you let it. Christmas holds the potential to fulfill and renew. It brings people together. It makes us focus on Christian values. Christmas is a time for family traditions and rituals. These rituals give us a sense of continuity and stability. They allow us a way to express our love for one another. Christmas is a time to reflect on the greatest gift of all time - the gift of salvation.

The stresses that plague people this time of year are rooted in three basic sources: TIME (getting everything done), MONEY (paying for it), and EMOTIONS (painful memories that resurface and family conflicts.)

We could all make a ten-page list of things that can go wrong at Christmas. The point is that things will go wrong. They always have and they always will whether it's Christmas or not. What makes all the difference in the world is whether you let it affect you or not.

Holiday Stress has been around a long time, even at the first Christmas. Here are some factors that added to the stress. Angels started showing up and scaring the daylights out of people. Mary is pregnant with Jesus out of wedlock. Joseph wants to break off the engagement with Mary. It's census and tax time. Ever been on the road with a pregnant woman? Enough said. There was a delivery in the livery. Several unexpected guests arrived (shepherds). Things got pretty hectic in the lives of Joseph and Mary when Jesus showed up.

But with a little divine help they endured the hardships and went on with life.

Here is a prescription for overcoming Holiday Stress:

1. Pray, pray, and pray some more. We all need divine help, and the best way to get it is to ask through prayer. The Bible tells us that we have not because we ask not. So ASK!
2. Set priorities. Decide what's important and what's not. Having a spotless manger isn't nearly as important as being hospitable and sharing the joy of Christmas with others.
3. Understand that something will go wrong, but it's all right. It's part of the Christmas experience.
4. Use common sense and plan ahead. Buy your gifts early and plan your meals so your husband doesn't need to make a half dozen last minute trips to the store. Book your reservations well in advance and pad your travel time with extra days on both ends of the trip. Planning in advance will save you much grief.
5. Simplify your life. Ask yourself, "Is this really necessary? What difference will it make in the eternal scheme of things?"
6. Celebrate Christmas in ways that are personally meaningful.
7. When trouble comes your way this Holiday Season, and it will, take the high road. Give the problem to God in prayer and leave it there. Don't take it with you when you say 'Amen.'

Merry Christmas!

Bro. Allan ☺
