Easter Sunday

Does Easter really matter? Does it impact the way you live your life on a daily basis? Even people who believe Jesus rose from the grave on the third day sometimes have difficulty articulating its relevancy to their lives. So whether you are a follower of Christ or are still examining His claims, travel back with me to that first Easter morning—Resurrection Sunday—when Jesus appeared to His faithful followers and explore the significance of the resurrection and the difference it can make in your life. When Jesus got up and walked out of that tomb, he changed everything—for you, for me, for the whole world. Because He lives . . .

1. We have Peace .

John 20:19

When Jesus appeared to His disciples that first Easter Sunday, the first words out of His mouth were, "Peace be with you" (John 20:19). The peace Jesus spoke of was more than just a sense of calmness or tranquility. It was the Hebrew word shalom and it was pregnant with meaning. It meant wholeness, completeness, serenity, and harmony of life. At the very center of this peace is peace with God—reconciliation with the one who breathed life into the universe.

In my many years as a pastor it's been my privilege to officiate several funerals. When the person who died wasn't religious and didn't attend church, often one of the family members will tell me that he or she made their peace with God. The truth is, though—we can't do that. We're not in a position to make peace with God.

When God created mankind, Adam and Eve, He gave them the Garden of Eden as a perfect paradise. He came and walked with them and talked with them and they had peace with God. Then came the tragedy of sin, and humanity was alienated from God. That wonderful peace was shattered. The earth, the animals, mankind, the entire universe was then cursed and we all now live in an imperfect world. Every one of us since then has sinned and our sins have put a chasm between ourselves and God. No matter how hard we try or what we do, we always fall short and those short comings result in everlasting death. It is a tragedy and we can do nothing about it.

But here's the good news. Our sins separate us from God, so if peace with God is ever going to be restored it's up to Him to find a way. That's where Jesus comes in. For God so loved the world, that he gave his one and only Son. Jesus died on the cross to pay the penalty for our sins. His shed blood was our only way out of this mess. Jesus died and rose from the grave so that you and I could have peace with God. Because he lives, I have peace with God. Because of him, I have a relationship with the Creator of the universe and so can you. You can know him personally. You can talk to him. You can ask his forgiveness. You can lean on him in times of trouble. You can experience his love, grace and compassion.

2. We have a Purpose .

John 20:21

Catch the next thing Jesus said. He tells his disciples: "As the Father has sent me, I am sending you" (John 20:21). Where was he sending them? Everywhere. In other words, they were going to become ambassadors for Christ. Their mission, should they choose to accept it, was to spread the word about the cross and the empty tomb—to share the message of Jesus with their friends, neighbors, and relatives. They would use their love, their lives, and their lips to testify about power of the cross and the promise of eternal life.

Colossians 1:15-16

It's all about Him. The Bible says, "Christ is the visible image of the invisible God. He existed before anything was created and is supreme over all creation... Everything was created through him and for him" (Colossians 1:15-16 NLT). Because of Jesus, we know why we exist and what we're supposed to do with our time here on earth.

3. We have a Promise .

John 20:31

At the end of this encounter with the risen Christ, John tells us, "these are written that you may believe that Jesus is the Messiah, the Son of God, and that by believing you may have life in his name" (John 20:31 NIV).

John 3:16

That's the promise of John 3:16 too, isn't it? "For God so loved the world that he gave his one and only Son that whoever believes in him shall not perish, but have everlasting life" (John 3:16 NIV).

John 10:10

All throughout His ministry Jesus promised life-everlasting to those who believe in Him. Jesus said so clearly, "I have come that they may have life, and that they may have it more abundantly" (John 10:10 NKJV). It's that abundant life that we anticipate as believers. Many people today hope for a long and happy life, but Jesus offers so much more. He offers forever—eternity, life without end. The promise of life everlasting is the heartbeat of hope. And the resurrection of Jesus insures that we too will be resurrected.

Think of it this way—a Muslim in Africa became a Christian and some of his friends asked him, "Why have you done such a thing?" He answered, "Well, it's like this: Suppose you were going down the road and suddenly the road forked in two directions. You didn't know which way to go, but there at the fork were two men—one dead, and one alive—which one would you ask for directions?"

Conclusion:

Easter is so much more than candy, colored eggs, and cartoon bunnies—Easter is the cornerstone of the Christian faith; the celebration of Jesus rising from the grave, conquering death and giving us peace with God, a purpose for life and the promise of heaven.

That's what today is really all about. That's why we're here, why this building exists, the greeters, the ushers, the choir members, the Sunday school teachers—all of us who follow Jesus. We are here to encourage others to put their faith in the resurrected Christ.

Come to Faith in Christ!

Easter Reflections

Welcome to Easter Sunday at Calvary Baptist. Allow me to take a moment to thank everyone for choosing to spend Easter morning here at Calvary. Whether you've been worshipping here all your life, or this is your first time visiting, or you just haven't been back since last Easter—(just kidding)—We're glad you're here because Easter is the celebration of the resurrection of Jesus Christ and it's the capstone in the arch of Christianity.

A Sunday School teacher once asked her class to write one sentence on "What Easter Means to Me." One student wrote: Egg salad sandwiches for the next two weeks.

Another Sunday School teacher asked her class, "Why do we celebrate Easter?" The children gave a variety of answers: because of the Easter bunny, Easter eggs, candy, spring, etc. Then the teacher said, "No, those are Easter traditions and symbols, but what is the reason why we celebrate Easter?" One little girl raised her hand and said, "Easter celebrates Jesus coming out of the tomb." The teacher exclaimed, "Yes!" excited that the correct answer finally surfaced. Acting just a little bit boastful for having the right answer, the little girl continued, "Then Jesus looks to see if He can see His shadow, and if He can then we have six more weeks of winter."

Have you ever wondered what bunny rabbits and colored eggs have to do with the resurrection of Jesus? The short answer is—nothing. The longer answer is that rabbits and eggs were both symbols of springtime and new life in many ancient near-eastern cultures. In fact, some historians claim that the tradition of hiding colored eggs in a field for children to find dates back to ancient Babylon many centuries before Jesus was born. And no one is quite sure where the name Easter comes from either. There are several theories about it. Some say that it comes from the ancient Germanic calendar because their word for April is actually Easter. Others believe the name Easter is derived from the Eostre or Esther, the Anglo-Saxon goddess of spring, for whom a spring festival was held annually. Still others see a connection to the Babylonian goddess of spring, called Ishtar or the Phoenician goddess Astarte.

But far from attempting to Christianize pagan springtime festivals, early Christians intentionally choose to establish a rival celebration of the resurrection of Jesus which took place on the Sunday morning following the Passover celebration in early spring. Jesus usurped springtime celebrations of all sorts all across the globe. Early Christians readily adopted the eggs as symbols of new life and birth. And while the world has all but forgotten the Greco-

Roman gods of ancient mythology, they are annually reminded that two thousand years ago Jesus Christ rose from the grave and changed the world.

What difference does Easter make to you? Today we are invited to travel back to that first Easter morning and explore the significance and the difference it makes in your life.

God Bless You!

Bro. Allan
