'Tis the Season for Pageants

with a bundle. He handed it to Joseph and said, "Congratulations—it's a God!" Yes, it's true. God is born on Christmas Day. We think that sound wrong, since God is eternal. Someone said Christmas is like the rapture in reverse.

There is another story of a boy who tried to sabotage his Christmas pageant. It seems he was bitterly disappointed at not being cast as Joseph in the school Nativity play. Instead, he was given the minor role of the innkeeper. Being unhappy over this he plotted on how he could get back at the classmate who was chosen for the part that he so desired.

When the day of the performance came, He was prepared. Joseph and Mary made their entrance and knocked on the door of the inn. The bitter innkeeper opened it a fraction and eyed them coldly. "Can you give us board and lodging for the night? Joseph pleaded. Joseph, of course, expected the innkeeper to follow the script and answer gruffly that he had no room for them in the inn.

Instead the innkeeper grandly flung the door wide open, beamed cheerfully and announced, "Come in, come in. You shall have the best room in the hotel."

There was a pause. Poor Joseph had not expected this and did not know exactly what to do. But then, with great presence of mind, he turned to Mary and said, "I'll take a look inside first." He peered past the innkeeper, shook his head firmly and announced sharply, "I'm not taking my wife into a place like this. Come on, Mary, we'll sleep in the stable." And that is what they did. The plot was back on course.

It didn't matter what kind of difficulties or challenges Mary and Joseph faced, nothing could stop God's plan. The concept of eternity entered into historical time. For this reason we are urged to prepare all through Advent for a worthy Christmas Celebration. We are to ready our hearts to receive our King.

Lastly, there was yet another Christmas pageant presented by a class of four-year olds and it was an evening to remember. It began as three Virgin Mary's marched onto the stage. Not every Christmas pageant is blessed with three Mary's. Over the years this school had acquired three Mary costumes. Using all three gave a chance for more children to be involved and kept down the squabbling over who got the starring roles. The two Josephs walked up behind the Mary's. Then twenty little angels came out. They were dressed in white robes and they had huge wire wings covered in fabric. Next were twenty little shepherd boys dressed in burlap sacks. They carried an array of objects that were supposed to be shepherd crooks.

It was at this point that the problem occurred. During the dress rehearsal the teacher had used chalk to draw circles on the floor to mark where the angels were supposed to stand and crosses to mark the spots of the shepherds. But the children had practiced with their regular clothes on. So, on the night of the pageant, the angels came walking out with their beautiful costumed wings and stood on their circles. However, their huge wings covered the crosses of the shepherds as well. So when the time came for the shepherds to find their places, they did not know where to go because angels took up all their space.

One little boy became extremely frustrated and angry over the whole experience. He finally spied his teacher behind the curtains and said in a loud voice, "Because of these dumb angels, I can't find the cross!"

The nativity scene by itself is not the whole story; it's only the first act. We won't understand Christmas without Good Friday, Easter, and Pentecost.

God Bless You!

Bro. Allan ☺
